ONE GREAT COMMERCIAL BODY STEP NEARER; BY-LAWS AGREED TO

Special Joint Committee Finishes Labors and Submits a Printed Report

Planned to promote the organization of the Greater Honolulu Chamber of Commerce on lines of breadth and usefulness, the tentative by-laws of the proposed organization have been completed by the special joint committee after several weeks of diligent work.

Copies of the by-laws will be sent to each member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association, and a report on the completion of the work will be made to the presidents of the respective bodies. F. C. Atherton, chairman of the Chamber's special committee, will report to President Carter, and S. S. Paxson, head of the Merchants' Association delegation, will report to President Farrington.

In many of the portions of a more routine nature, the draft of the by-laws follows rather closely the draft prepared about a year ago and at that time submitted to the respective bodies through committees. It will be remembered that a joint committee of the two bodies prepared by-laws which were later submitted to the bodies. After much discussion and mature consideration, each organization took votes of its entire membership. First, general meetings were held and the votes of those present cast, and then postal-card votes of the membership polled. In every case the result was an emphatic demand for the merging of the two bodies and the creation of the Greater Chamber.

Following this action, new committees were named and new by-laws have been prepared. They are considered even more liberal in their provisions and of greater scope and popular breadth, than the previous rules.

For instance, in explaining the object of the Chamber, it is stated that it "shall be to inspire in the members a sense of individual civic responsibility." The committee purposely has gone beyond the range merely of business affairs.

The membership at large is to have the right to nominate and elect officers and directors. The number of committees has been somewhat increased and the duties of each fully set forth.

An important provision is that which creates a board of retail trades, to be composed of members engaged in retail trade in the city and concerned particularly with retail business affairs. This board has wide powers though on important matters it must refer its desires to the general chamber.

Dues are to be from $1 to $3 a month, the amount being left slightly elastic so that in case a budget demands increased revenues the dues can be raised at the annual meeting preceding the year when the budget is operative. Admission fee is $10.

Monthly meetings are to be held. Committees are given plenty of work to do and expected to do it.

Action on the new draft is expected at an early date, as both bodies have formally endorsed the merger idea.

NEW SERVICE IS ADOPTED BY THE C. U. CHURCH

The new service of admission to Central Union church, as recommended by the standing committee and presented recently to the members of the church through printed pamphlets, was adopted last night at a business meeting of the congregation. After a stimulating and informal discussion, which brought out the ideals which the standing committee had in mind in preparing this new form of admission, the proposed service was taken up serially, at the conclusion of which but one change was made, that being the insertion of two words in the confession, making it stand for a dedication to the service "of God and man."

The ideas of the standing committee in presenting this service was to offer a simple form of confession and covenant which could be fully understood and honestly entered into by any person coming into the church upon confession of faith, no matter how young the candidate might be. The welcome and response are new features added to the service, to express the cordial spirit of welcome in which the church receives its new members.

One feeling which guided the standing committee in its work was its effort to enter into the state of mind of the young persons entering the church for the first time, unfamiliar with the theological technicalities. It was brought out by various speakers that the child's mind seeks the simplest way of expressing its love for Christ. It also was voted that this form of admission, together with the doctrinal basis of belief, which the church holds, and other appropriate material, should be put into a pamphlet to be presented to candidates for admission to the church. The standing committee was authorized to undertake this. Among the speakers last evening were D. L. Withington, Theodore Richards, G. P. Castle, Prof. C. H. Hitchcock, W. A. Bowen, Spencer Bowen, Mrs. P. L. Weaver, Rev. A. A. Ebersole and Ernest Chase.
